If you don't understand what your healthcare team is telling you, let them know right away.

Ask for explanations and examples to help you fully understand. You could say:

- "This is new to me. Would you mind explaining it slowly, using language that is easier to understand?"

- "Can you show me a picture or model to help me understand?"

You're the most important part. Take an active role in your healthcare.